Welcome to Scappoose Bay Marina

Scappoose Bay is a body of water off the Multnomah Channel and influenced by the Lower Columbia River. Its intricate network of sheltered creeks, tributaries and channels are protected waterways rich in wildlife that make it a perfect destination for paddling adventurers.

Located one mile upstream of the Columbia River where it enters the Multnomah Channel, Scappoose Bay offers easy access to great fishing and power boat activity. The Columbia River is the place to find returning Chinook and Coho Salmon as well as deep-swimming sturgeon.

Boat Launch

The Marine Park offers a three-lane public boat launch with access to the Columbia River and Multnomah Channel. With a generous boat ramp and ample parking for over 100 trucks and boat trailers, you'll be on the water in no time at all. The daily launch pass includes parking and is available at the pay station. Annual launch permits are available for purchase at the Scappoose Bay Paddling Center or the Port office.

Visit www.portofcolumbiacounty.org to view our live webcam feed where you can check out what's happening at the marina in real time.

Nature Walking Trail

The paved 0.7-mile loop trail is good for all skill levels and offers excellent bird watching opportunities along the river and is accessible year-round. Take a leisurely stroll, walk your dog or go for that morning jog all while exploring nature.

Kayak Dock

The Marina has a separate dock for launching kayaks, canoes and stand-up paddleboards. Check out our new kayak launch added in 2020! The Kayak Dock offers immediate access to miles of flatwater estuaries, wetlands and waterways.

Next Adventure's Scappoose Bay Paddling Center

Book a tour in a family-friendly setting that caters to paddlers of all skill levels. Take a private or group class in kayaking, kayak fishing, stand-up paddle boarding or SUP Yoga. The Paddling Center also has kayaks, canoes and SUP's available for rent.
